

- From the Directors -

Welcome to February with its cold and snow. It was so disappointing to have to cancel our February gathering, but much better to be safe in that kind of weather. We'll get together again in March . . . weather permitting.

Until then there's still plenty to do if you wish. I hope you're planning to join us for our Chapter I Valentines Dinner on Thursday the 13th at the Fox & Hound. You should already have the particulars in your emails.

On Saturday the 15th, Chapter B in Grand Junction will be having their annual Valentine Dinner & Auction. Their flyer was sent to you earlier and is also on the website Event Calendar. If you'd like to take the trip out west just let me know and we'll see who all we can get together for group travel.

If you'd rather stay a little closer then you might want to visit with Chapter G up at Johnsons Corner for their February 16th meeting followed by a CPR/First Aid course. Again, that info is in your Inbox and on the Event Calendar.

As for Chapter I business, our 2014 Ride Book (calendar) is ready. I'll try to keep some with me in case we see each other between now and the March gathering. We'll have a Calendar Donation bucket out at the March meeting in order to help offset the cost of production. We're suggesting a $2 donation but please feel free to give more if you feel so led...

I am also happy to announce we have secured August 2nd for our Chapter I Picnic & 30th Birthday Party. So start formulating those game plans. 30 years is a lot to celebrate!!

So until then, ride safe when you can, stay home when you should...

It Only Takes 5 Hours To Be A Gun Expert?!?

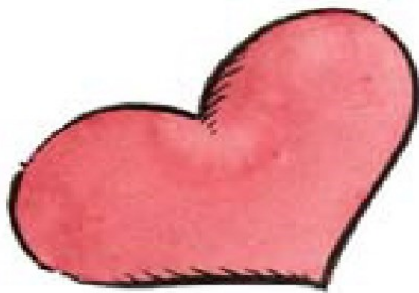

“How much training do I think is enough? It's different for every beginner. Some people who are new to guns will have an innate ability to quickly learn safe handling and deployment skills. While, on the other hand, some people who are new to guns will take weeks or maybe months of training until they develop the same skills”. Well the same can be said for riding a motorcycle. Two and a half days of motorcycle training for a beginner cannot make you an expert rider. Some people can learn the skill right away while others will take a while to develop the skill. In either situation, practice is needed to enhance the skill. Braking, cornering and swerving are skills that need to be practiced for smooth operation of the motorcycle. These are street strategies needed to avoid trouble and stay safe while riding. You can take 2 1/2 days of training as a beginner, but that does not make you an expert motorcyclist. This only comes with practice. Operating a motorcycle is a critical activity and you want your skills to be the best and sharpest when you need them the most. (Note: I thought the analogy was very close...if not used correctly with practice, both could kill or wound someone.)
